

MAY INCREASE SCHOOL BUDGET $42,000 HERE

The Gettysburg Joint School Board Monday evening at its April meeting gave tentative approval to a $783,600 budget for the next school year with the understanding that it will get a detailed examination before final approval in May.

The budget represents an increase of about $42,000 over the current budget but does not take into account any of the "capital expenses" the joint district faces to bring buildings into compliance with new state Department of Labor and Industry rulings.

The operating budget is in addition to $153,300 which the joint district must pay annually in school building rentals to the Gettysburg School Authority.

The new budget, which makes provision for several additional teachers required by increased enrollment, cuts sums for maintenance and "fixed charges" to hold the overall total to a $42,000 increase.

Ponder New Financing
There was no ready answer Monday evening to a director's question about how the building improvements ordered by the Department of Labor and Industry are going to be financed.

In representing the proposed budget, Business Manager Kenneth G. Reinhardt Jr. explained that the Finance and Planning Committee had completed work on the new budget last Friday night at its second special meeting and that there had not been time to prepare complete breakdown figures for Monday night's session. Details will be available in May when the budget will be up for final approval.

The jointure's budget shows these expected amounts to be paid by the member districts: Cumberland, $162,973; Franklin, $84,969 (Franklin is in the joint district only at the high school level); Freedom, $29,442; Gettysburg, $278,969; Highland, $35,515; Mt. Joy, $54,786; and Straban, $136,856.

Delay Tax Rates
These figures form the basis upon which the individual districts draw their own budgets and set their tax rates. It seemed likely that at least some of the districts may delay the fixing of the tax rates until some figures on the building changes are available.

In the new budget, costs of instruction (chiefly teachers' salaries) are up $43,000 but that sum includes some extra teachers. It also takes into account a state-ordered increase in teachers' pay.

U. S. Airman Is Missing In Arctic

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A U. S. airman assigned to a remote radar station near the Arctic Circle, 200 miles northwest of here, disappeared Saturday.

Airman 1/C Frank Luther Smith, of Winder, Ga., vanished while on a hike from lower Toupper Camp at Indian Mountain, near Hughes, with two companions. He became tired and told his fellow airmen to continue on to camp while he rested.

A search was launched when Smith failed to show up. Searchers couldn't pick up his tracks because of the drifting snow.

Smith's wife and three children live in Atlanta, Ga.

instructions that appropriate resolutions of appreciation be prepared.

Mr. Lefever, who at 64 has six years to go until the compulsory retirement age of 70 years, said he plans to spend some of his time at his son's farm in Hamiltonban Twp. and has plans for some "other activities" which he did not describe. In his 42 years' service here, he did not miss a day because of personal illness.

At the same meeting, the school board made provision for a full-time assistant high school principal and elected six teachers to the staff for next fall.

Gettysburg Graduate
Mr. Lefever, whose services will continue until June 30, attended Shippensburg State Teachers' College and has a bachelor and master's degree from Gettysburg College. He did advance graduate work at Penn State and Columbia. Before coming to Gettysburg in 1917, he taught two years in York County and a year in Camp Hill. He taught physics and chemistry until he became principal when the new high school was opened here in 1926.

In addition to his school duties he is chairman of the Gettysburg Civil Service board, member of the local recreation board, president of the Southern Pennsylvania Athletic Conference and a member of the county YMCA executive committee. TO FETE QUEEN, COURT AT TEA

Adams County's 1959 Apple Blossom Queen, Joan M. Staub, her eight attendants and parents of the nine girls are to be honored at a tea to be given Sunday at the home of Mrs. Richard B. Trostle, Biglerville R. 1, by the queen committee of which Mrs. Trostle is chairman.

Queen Joan is to be crowned in ceremonies which will be a special feature of Apple Blossom Sunday. The date for that event remains to be chosen but will be picked to coincide with the peak blossoming of the county's apple orchards.

Miss Staub was chosen as the new queen Friday night in Biglerville by three judges, Mrs. Shirley Dessen, manager of Tobey's, Gettysburg; Gene Goldring, manager of Bell's, York; and John T. Smith, York County farm agent.

On the queen committee, in addition to Mrs. Trostle, are Mrs. John Pitzer, Mrs. Donald X. Sullivan, Mrs. Clay R. Snyder, Mrs. Thomas Oyler, Mrs. Lloyd Benner and Mrs. Robert C. Lott.

HAZY ACCOUNT LAID TO BAD BOOKKEEPING

"Farmers are not good bookkeepers," Attorney Edward B. Bulleit told the Adams county court Monday afternoon during argument on the motion of Hugh K. Hamm, Hanover R. D., to "strike off" the account filed by Walter J. Hamm, Jr., New Oxford R. D., in an equity action and find Walter Hamm in contempt of court.

Judge W. C. Sheely, hearing the argument, indicated that the court is not considering a contempt citation against Walter Hamm in the matter, but also indicated the possibility there might be a request for more of an accounting.

The equity action pertained to operation of a farm owned by Hugh K. Hamm and operated by his nephew, Walter Hamm, as a partnership over a period from 1947 to 1953.

Called "Ridiculous"

Walter Hamm had been directed by the court to file an account. He filed an account which Attorney J. Francis Yake, counsel for Hugh Hamm, alleged was "ridiculous" and "not an account." Yake said, "It's that ridiculous that if you add up the income during the years and subtract the alleged expenses there was a loss of $17,000. He claims repairs to tractors and equipment of $14,000 and oil and gas of $7,000, so he has in there repairs and gas to nonexistent partnership assets totaling $21,000. There's less than 100 tillable acres on the farm and anyone who knows anything about farming knows you can hardly put more than 500 pounds of fertilizer per acre, and figuring at the top figure he still couldn't have spent more than $10,000 but he alleges expenditure of $22,500 for lime and fertilizer."

Attorney Bulleit held that "I could find no basis in Pennsylvania designating what an account is. All I could find was a statement in general jurisprudence that an account is more than a memorandum."

"Under that classification what was filed for Walter Hamm would (Continued On Page 5)

JAIL 3 FOR FAILING TO PAY SUPPORT

Two men went to jail for contempt of court following appearances before the Adams County court Monday afternoon.

Clarence L. Koonitz, Gettysburg R. D., who was reported as having paid $10 so far this year on a $16 per week support order for his wife and children, was found in contempt and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Raymond Plank, Gettysburg R. D., who was reported as residing with Koonitz, and who was listed as having paid $12 so far this year on his support order, was also found in contempt and sent to jail for 30 days.

Stuart E. Zeigler, Lewisberry, who told the court he had paid only $10 so far on his support order because his wife would not let him see his daughter, was placed in jail until he paid his arrearage and told he had "no right to take the law into your hands and decide whether you would or would not pay."

Pay "Or Else"

Martin E. Knox, Gettysburg, $410 in arrears on a $28 per week order for the support of three children, was told he must pay $30 per week from now until the arrearage is caught up "or else."

James R. Carter Jr., Harrisburg, who was reported as having kept up his support payments and also having paid $15 on arrearages since his last visit before the court on his support order, was told to return May 1 and "see how you are getting along by then."

A surety of the peace charge against Clyde A. Miller, Fourth St., Gettysburg, was dismissed when testimony in the case did not bear out the allegation. The prosecutrix, Janet Corwell, was ordered to pay the costs of the case by Saturday.

The $25 per week support order against Roy E. Rice, Carlisle, for a wife and child, was reduced to $15 per week for support of the wife only upon report that the daughter has married.

Soviet Jets Buzz Yankee Plane In Berlin Corridor

BONN, Germany (AP) — Soviet planes have buzzed an American Air Force transport in another incident in an air corridor to Berlin, the U.S. Embassy disclosed today.

An embassy spokesman said two Soviet jet fighters harassed an Air Force double-decker propeller transport on its way back from a routine cargo delivery flight to Berlin April 3.

The embassy spokesman gave this account of the April 3 incident: The big military version of the Boeing Stratocruiser was flying at about 12,000 feet when two Soviet jets came up from behind and began cruising, each about 10 feet from a wingtip of the American plane. The Soviet fliers then swapped

A three-year-old child was injured and damage totaled $700 when a car and truck collided six-tenths of a mile north of Arendtsville on a legislative route Monday morning at 11:05 o'clock.

TELLS CLUB OF CHILD WELFARE SERVICE HERE

The work of the Adams County Child Welfare Services was outlined Monday evening by C. C. Culp at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club at Bankert's Restaurant.

Culp, who has been chairman of the Child Welfare Advisory Board here for 14 years, said "25 years ago there was little to offer a child. If for any reason he had to be moved from his home, he went to an institution. If there was any problem the child might have, he had to work it out himself."

"About 20 years ago the idea of a Child Welfare Service was suggested, and Pennsylvania was among the first to join the federal government in establishing the service."

TRAFFIC WILL HALT FRIDAY IN CD TEST ALERT

Traffic will stop and people will be asked to stay indoors Friday during the nationwide Civil Defense Air Raid Test, County CD Director William G. Weaver said Monday evening at a meeting of CD officials at the Court House.

In Adams County Friday, when the test signal is received here between 9:30 a.m. and 5 p.m., an alert signal will be sounded first.

When the fire sirens wail the first alarm Friday, residents are asked to turn on their radios for instructions and simulated messages in connection with the air raid test.

Asks Cooperation

When the second alarm is given, a warbling sound on the sirens, all traffic will be asked to halt and persons will be asked to go indoors.

Weaver asked all residents to "enter into the spirit of the test and actually go to a place of safety within the buildings where you are. If you do Friday what you would do in the event of an actual raid there is every possibility that in a real emergency you would act in such fashion as to save your life and the lives of those about you."

Following the "red alert period," the all clear will be sounded and the general public will go about its business as before.

Local Drills 2nd Day

Saturday, the second day of the nationwide CD test, has been set aside for local activities and operations, Weaver said. Adams County CD Fire Chief John Murren is planning a number of local air raid drills, particularly in the eastern part of the county, for Saturday. Fuller details of the Saturday events will be announced later, Weaver said.

Members of the Adams County Radio Amateurs Society, a group of teenage radio "hams" taught by Walter B. Lane, were accepted as Civil Defense workers and sworn in at Monday's meeting. The youths would operate their "ham" stations as an auxiliary radio network in the county in case of need.

GAS RATES TO BE INCREASED

The Public Utility Commission Monday allowed the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., Pottsville, a $971,414 annual rate boost, subject to refund depending on later federal or state action. The company provides service in Adams, York and Franklin counties.

The company had asked for a total yearly rate increase of $9,376,875.

The authorized increase is designed to offset higher costs of natural gas being paid by the company. It is retroactive to April 7, when gas pipeline companies raised their prices.

At the same time, the PUC authorized manufacturers to make another boost of $618,488 May 15 if another round of wholesale gas price increases takes effect.

Approval of both increases was based on the utility's consent to refund any portion which ultimately might be disallowed by the Federal Power Commission.

The first increase will raise rates 1.13 cents per thousand cubic feet. The second would add another 7.2 mills per thousand cubic feet to bills of 250,000 consumers.

MAY CORRECT FIRE HAZARDS FOR $45,000

After a conference with the state Department of Labor and Industry, and with the state Department of Public Instruction yet to be consulted, architects told the Gettysburg Joint School Board Monday evening that state-ordered changes to school buildings to correct fire hazards may be completed for as little as $45,000.

Some of the earlier estimates had been much higher but directors were faced with a major decision in the near future on whether the Meade and Lincoln Schools shall be put in shape for extended or only temporary use in the future. "Temporary" could mean two to 10 years, depending on state views.

Information during a long discussion Monday evening brought out these main considerations: Even if Lincoln and Meade Schools were remodeled to comply fully with state requirements, they will be inadequate in a few years to handle grade school children.

"Pinch" Facilities

The Gettysburg High School building will be short by four rooms of accommodating all high school pupils next fall and if Lincoln School should be used for part of the Seventh grade, it would "pinch" elementary facilities and be only a stop-gap for expected high school enrollment in a few years.

The certainty that new building space will have to be supplied soon for junior or senior high school pupils and the prospect that, if Meade and Lincoln are altered for temporary use, another grade school soon will have to be provided.

AUXILIARY OF SEMINARY IN SESSION TODAY

Mrs. Gilbert Martin, Lancaster, was installed today as president of the Auxiliary of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary to succeed Mrs. J. Frank Fife, Baltimore, who presided over today's annual meeting at the seminary. The executive committee met Monday evening at the seminary office.

The other officers inducted include: Vice president, Mrs. George Alexander, Cumberland, Md.; secretary, Mrs. Paul Sheffer, Gettysburg; and treasurer, William VanHorn Davies, Sr., Harrisburg. The retiring officers in addition to Mrs. Fife are: Vice president, Mrs. Earl S. Lee, Oakland, Md.; secretary, Mrs. Kermit Gloffety, Accident, Md., and treasurer, Mr. Davies.

Today's program featured organ music by Robert S. Clippinger, member of the seminary faculty, and special numbers by the seminary choir which Mr. Clippinger directs.

The project of the auxiliary for the last two years has been the installing of climate control in the seminary library and the report of the treasurer showed more than $6,200 was received in contributions toward that cause in his last year.

Dr. Abdel Ross Wentz, professor emeritus at the seminary, told the auxiliary of the "treasures of the seminary library" and exhibited many rare volumes in the library's collection. There was also a talk by Walter Smith, a student at the seminary.

Six Volunteers Indicted Today

The Adams County Draft Board this morning sent six volunteers to Harrisburg for induction into the armed forces. Records of a seventh volunteer have been forwarded to Miami where he will be called for duty.

The six who left Gettysburg at 9:35 o'clock this morning by bus are: Robert L. Barney, Taneytown R. D., leader; Bernard David Robinson, Gettysburg, assistant leader; William H. Smith, New Oxford R. D.; Robert L. Flohr, Orrtanna; Ronald K. Runk, Cashtown, and Charles E. Beasley, Orrtanna R. D.

John M. Kratzert, formerly of New Oxford, has had his papers transferred to Miami where he will be inducted.

No men were sent this month for final physical examinations.

"The Lord helps those that help themselves. I have a feeling that Congress might be inclined to do the same," Congressman James M. Quigley said in remarks made Monday evening before approximately 100 members of the Gettysburg and Hanover Rotary Clubs at a dinner-meeting in the Hotel Gettysburg. The congressman set forth his views on the problem of acquisition by the government of additional Battlefield land here.

Quigley issued a call on local people to join in the "second Battle of Gettysburg." He said that he feels that the House erred in cutting from the Interior Department budget an appropriation which would have permitted the purchase of Civil War battlefield lands here and elsewhere.

The congressman outlined his unsuccessful efforts to prevent the cut and predicted that if the Senate does restore the appropriations the House will concur.

Zoning Is Answer

"But even if the Senate and ultimately the whole Congress and the President provide the money to acquire these additional lands, the problem is not solved. At Gettysburg it is not only necessary to correct past errors — it is essential that future ones be avoided," Quigley said.

"To this latter end I have a very positive answer: Zoning." He reported discussing the idea of zoning with Cumberland Twp. and National Park Service representatives and finding reaction favorable.

"I would hope that with a minimum of delay the supervisors of Cumberland Twp. would enact into law an ordinance which provides zoning of the Battlefield area and territory adjacent thereto," Quigley continued. He said that this "would be an ideal time for the supervisors not only to protect their heritage from the past but, at the same time, intelligently plot the housing, industrial, the recreational and the commercial future of the entire township."

Offset Tax Loss

Quigley said that his plan also would overcome one of the objections to further land purchases that might be raised on the local level. He pointed out that when the government buys land, it becomes tax exempt. He suggested that the Park Service share with the township, the school district and the county the rentals it receives when it leases Battlefield lands. These amounts should approximate the amount of taxes that would have been levied on the properties, Quigley said.

The congressman spoke plainly on the role of commercialism in connection with the Battlefield. "Some three quarters of a million people now visit Gettysburg annually. Most of these visitors have to be fed. A considerable number of them have to be housed. If Gettysburg failed to meet these needs it would rightly be criticized. Yet these needs can not be met adequately (Continued On Page 2)

SAYS CREATIVE THINKING IS POWER SOURCE

"Creative thinking is our greatest untapped national resource," Leonard Beidel, personnel director for the H. J. Heinz Company at Chambersburg, told members of the Gettysburg Lions Club Monday evening in a talk at the club's weekly dinner meeting at the Shelter House.

"Imagination is the key to creative thinking," the speaker said. "Man must continue to be creative for increased productive capacity. A creative imagination is a God-given talent enabling man to transcend other animals. It is one thing that an IBM or a mechanical brain never can have."

He warned about "resistant factors" to creative thinking and listed the principal ones as a natural resistance to change, laziness, lack of confidence and fear of ridicule. "The least we can do is remove the blocks that hinder creativity in industry and education," he added.

FOUR PROJECTS GO TO C. OF C.

The Civic Improvement committee of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, meeting Monday evening at the engine house, voted on four projects which it will submit at Monday evening's meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber for authorization.

Atty. Donald G. Oyler, chairman, said that if approval is given to the four projects his committee will divide into four sub-committees to carry out study and details on the plans.

The four are: A town-wide clean up and fix up promotion program carried on permanently; study on ways to obtain a civic building containing some recreational facilities; a study of ways to improve street lighting in the area of the town outside the "White Way," and a study, the findings on which will be presented to borough council, on the advantages of a borough manager type of municipal government.

A schedule was set up by which one member of the committee will attend each meeting of borough council to keep the committee aware of what is planned by council and permit coordination with the borough.

The committee also agreed to survey the community on its opinion on whether the tree and flower boxes in Lincoln Square should be continued.

The International Relations Club at Gettysburg College will be addressed by Colin E. Campbell at the bimonthly meeting Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the SCA auditorium. During past meetings the club has discussed relations between Latin America and the United States, and the theme will be continued this week with the talk and discussion of "The Coming Economic Revolution in Latin America."

A graduate of Dartmouth College in 1940, Mr. Campbell received his M.S. degree from Cornell in 1948. He served with the U. S. Air Force in the Mediterranean and China-Burma-India theaters, 1940 to 1945, and in the U. S. during the Korean war. From 1949 until 1954 he travelled in Latin America conducting agriculture research with the R. T. and the United States Fruit Company. In 1957 he lived in Colombia as manager of chemical marketing for the Rohm & Haas Company. In his work and travel he had opportunities to talk extensively with all types of industrialists, business men and agriculturalists. The public is invited to the meeting.

Nab Marylander; Hub Caps Stolen

Oliver Schultz, Baltimore, was arrested by borough police Monday evening on W. High St. on a disorderly conduct charge. Police said they will file charges before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

Two persons Monday reported hubcaps stolen from their automobiles. Dave Forney, Buford Ave., said two hub caps were stolen between 9:30 p.m. Sunday and 1:30 p.m. Monday. Robert Greek reported four spinner-type hub caps were stolen from his 1956 Mercury Sunday evening.

Young Tire Thief Nabbed Early Today

The youth who stole a recapped tire from Swope's Atlantic Station, Carlisle St., while an attendant was changing a flat on his car was relieved of the $16 tire 30 minutes after stealing it by borough officer Clarence Cluck.

Robert Hefflin, an employee of the station, notified police at 1:30 o'clock this morning that a boy driving a 1950 Chevrolet drove into the parking area and asked him to change a flat tire. When the youth had gone he noticed a recapped tire was missing and immediately called police and gave them a description of the car and driver. Fifteen minutes later the officer apprehended the boy on N. Washington St. and found the stolen tire in the car's trunk.

Police said the youth was driving his brother-in-law's car at the time. The boy's relative said he didn't know about the recapped tire.

The boy was turned over to juvenile authorities, police said.

FRANCE WANTS "MORE TO SAY"

LONDON (AP) — French Premier Michel Debre again has pressed French demands for a bigger voice in Allied global planning.

Debre, right-hand man of President Charles de Gaulle, unexpectedly raised the issue Monday night at an informal brandy-and-cigars session with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said today the subject came up during a discussion of questions relating to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Debre's two-day meeting with Macmillan neared an end. They and their foreign ministers, in separate sessions, ranged over the grave problems of Europe, the Middle East and Africa.

In particular they examined the situation in Iraq where the Communist-backed government of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem is seeking a greater share in oil revenues from foreign concessions. Britain and France both have big investments in Iraq's oil industry.

2 EMPLOYED, OKAY BUDGET AT BERMUDIAN

A teacher and an assistant janitor were employed, the 1959-60 budget adopted and a county-operated special education class in York Springs was approved by the Bermudian Springs Joint School Board at a meeting Monday evening in the York Springs School. President Ralph Tyson conducted the meeting attended by 25 board members.

Stanley Reinecker was engaged as assistant janitor for the York Springs building.

Miss Octavia Barnes, Petersburg, Va., was elected an elementary teacher at an annual salary of $3,800. She is a graduate of Roanoke College and is now teaching in Petersburg.

The new budget calling for expenditures of $361,825 tops that of the current year by about 10 per cent. Taxes for the new school year will be set by the individual member boards of the jointure.

The board also discussed and indicated a favorable attitude toward a plan to consolidate the senior classes from the East Berlin and York Springs units in the coming school year. Formal action was not taken Monday on the plan which would have seniors from both areas attend classes in the York Springs building.

Rev. Amos D. Meyers, supervising principal, said that a better program can be given by consolidation of the classes, both of which are small. This year's senior class in York Springs has 26 students, the East Berlin unit 18.

Working On Plans

Buchart Associates, architects for the proposed new high school and for conversion of the East Berlin building for use as an elementary unit, reported that plans for the secondary building are about 70 per cent completed. Plans for the conversion are about 15 per cent completed, it was reported.

Dr. Ross Neagley was named commencement speaker for the exercises to be held in York Springs May 26. The Rev. Robert Rezasch, formerly of the East Berlin United Church of Christ charge, will deliver the baccalaureate address May 24 in the East Berlin school.

Promotion Exercises

The board also approved holding of promotion day exercises for elementary pupils in York Springs May 27 and in East Berlin May 28.

The cafeteria report revealed that 10,747 meals had been served during March.

Current bills amounting to $32,056.12 were approved and ordered paid.

Principal Meyers reported that registration of pre-school children is taking place and that parents of children who will enter school in September are advised to call either the East Berlin or York Springs school office. Pre-school examinations are scheduled for April 22 in York Springs and April 29 in East Berlin.

Congressman

(Continued From Page 1) and well without a certain amount of commercialism. This commercialism has, of course, caused the appearance of the town and the area to change from the way it was back in '63.

"Unfortunately the adverse results of the inevitable growth and necessary commercialism has been greater than it should have been because, as in most American cities and towns, it has been allowed to happen without planning or an overall sense of direction."

"Some of the cases," Quigley said, "could only be deplored." He said that purchase was the only means the government had to preserve the Battlefield.

Obvious Drawbacks

Purchase, Quigley said, had "some pretty obvious drawbacks." He cited that it is "frightfully" expensive, yet only partially effective.

"It is just not possible . . . to buy up every last foot of ground on which a soldier set foot in or on his way to and from the battle. Yet, at the very point where the government stops buying, there is nothing to prevent the erection of the most desecrating honky-tonk joint imaginable."

The other drawback that Quigley cited is that of loss of local tax revenue, the loss which his plan of sharing rentals would offset.

"Lonesome Voice"

To possible questions why he bothered to raise his "lonesome voice" to protest against the House action in view of the drawbacks, Quigley said, "I believe that the House was wrong in rejecting it (the appropriation for the land) and I'll tell you why:

"In my judgment the House acted as it did for three reasons. First, there was the general acceptance of the idea that the federal government already had enough land at Gettysburg. Second, there was a feeling that you could never buy enough battlefield lands to satisfy the cravings of the Civil War enthusiast. Third, and the most important reason, was the balanced budget psychosis which is currently haunting the Congress of the United States.

"I do not believe that I am telling any secrets when I say that many of the House members said to themselves: 'Alright, if the President is really serious about this balanced budget, let's show him that, like charity, balanced budgets begin at home. What better way can we strike a telling blow for economy in government than by publicly slashing from the President's budget more than a million dollars, most of which was earmarked for spending right in the President's back yard.' This, in my judgment, is why the House acted as it did.

"Worthwhile Goal"

"I, too, am interested in a balanced budget but I can't agree that the approach of the House in this instance is the sound way to reach a worthwhile goal.

"Uncle Sam would never be rich enough to buy all the battlefields which many of the Civil War buffs want."

"In the first place, Gettysburg just isn't any battlefield of any war. It isn't even just any battlefield of the Civil War. Gettysburg is Gettysburg, the site of one of the truly decisive battles in the whole of history. At Gettysburg the future of this country came to the cross roads. Here brave men fought and died not only that his nation might live but to resolve how it would live."

"Lot Of Doing"

Quigley said that his plan for co-ordinated effort locally and in Congress "is going to take a lot of doing. There is bound to be opposition to any zoning proposal. Even getting the cooperation between the local governments involved and different departments of the federal government will be no mean assignment."

His rental sharing plan, he said, would require congressional approval.

Finding a workable solution, Quigley said, would be "well worth the effort because failure . . . means the ultimate desecration of the Gettysburg Battlefield."

He concluded with a warning: "If you fail to act and in turn the Congress fails to act, then, frankly, I look forward to 1963 and Gettysburg with grave misgivings . . . I'm afraid that by then, when the spotlight of the nation and the world is focused on Gettysburg to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the battle, we will discover, too late and to our sorrow, that the second Battle of Gettysburg . . . already has been lost."

REGISTRATION DAY SET FOR EMMITSBURG

The burgess and commissioners of the Corporation of Emmitsburg have announced the annual registration of voters in the corporate limits will be held Monday from 2 to 7 p.m. at the town office. To be eligible to register, a person must have lived in the corporate limits for the past 12 months and must be 21 years of age or over.

Residents of recently annexed areas are entitled to register and vote, providing they have lived there during the past 12 months.

A burgess and one town commissioner are to be elected. Candidates must file at least 10 days prior to the election date. The term of Commissioner Wales E. Rightmire expires this year.

Action On Peddlers

At its meeting Monday, the council announced that peddler's permit ordinance will be enforced effective May 1 and stated that all peddlers doing business within the corporate limits of town will be compelled to obtain a permit. The ordinance covers peddlers of milk, coal, bread, oil, ice cream, beer and other merchandise. The minimum cost of a permit is $5.

Present at the meeting was a delegation of property owners from Emmitt Gardens, now a part of Emmitsburg, seeking correction in present sewerage plans for that area. Council agreed to have the contractor installing the new sewer line to lower an existing sewer line to provide adequate sewerage facilities for that section.

Asks Filing Of Claims

Burgess Clarence G. Frailey announced that all parties having damage claims created by construction of the new sewage system file such claims immediately in order that they can be settled before the contracting firm leaves town. Indications are that the sewer project will be completed within the next 10 weeks. A bill from the W. F. Wilson and Son, contracting firm, in the amount of $23,000 for work on the sewer line during the past month, was ordered paid.

Daylight Saving Time will become effective Sunday, April 26, and continue until the last Sunday in October.

Council asked the electric power utility to install light poles and lights at both the new sewer pumping station and the disposal plant.

Another project facing the council is the construction of a new street running from the public school to the Mother Seton School. A contractor has been engaged and is expected to commence work within a week.

Expect Dulles May Hand
In His Resignation Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators expressed today a growing belief that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may have to hand in his resignation soon.

There were well-founded reports — including some from persons who have talked to him — that Dulles has failed to respond to treatment for a cancerous condition.

If fresh medical treatments planned at Walter Reed Army Hospital do not show results, the general expectation among members of Congress is that Dulles will step out of his official job quickly to clear the way for appointment of a successor.

Delay Decision

Dulles returned unexpectedly Sunday from a Florida rest to re-enter the hospital for further checks and treatment. President Eisenhower visited him for 45 minutes Monday but delayed a decision on Dulles' future.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said later that Dulles has not resigned, and added that "pending additional medical evaluation there will be no further statement from the President."

But several senators said that if Dulles finds he is not going to be able to attend the scheduled East-West foreign ministers meeting in Geneva May 11, they believe he will want the American representative there to carry the full title of secretary of state.

In Dulles' absence, that representative seems certain to be Christian Herter, undersecretary who is serving now as acting secretary.

Expect He'll Quit

Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, assistant Senate Republican leader, said there is no question in his mind that Dulles will "eliminate himself if his medical advice indicates physical inability to resume his full responsibilities."

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), agreeing, added that "I don't think the country can afford to go on and on without an active head of the State Department."

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said in a separate interview he agrees that the chief U.S. delegate "must not be in an inferior position" at Geneva.

"He must have the full title of secretary of state," Mansfield said. "I am sure that if he becomes convinced in his own mind that he can't carry on, Secretary Dulles will hand in his papers."

To be eligible for the U.S. Senate, a person must be at least 30 years of age, a citizen of the United States for at least nine years, and a resident of the state from which he is chosen.

FIFTY YEARS AGOTourist Parties Scheduled Soon:
The arrival this week of two or more tourist parties demonstrates that the season for this year is fairly on its way. Many other parties of a hundred or over have made arrangements to visit Gettysburg during the next few weeks and the town will be busy.
Tonight a party of one hundred will arrive at 9:05 from the New England States and stay in Gettysburg until Friday morning when they will leave for Washington.On Saturday another New England party is due here. It will be composed of the members and friends of Springfield Commandery, Knights Templar, and will come from Springfield, Massachusetts.The number of separate tourists is increasing almost daily and the prospects for numerous parties of from four to ten during the coming summer are better than ever. The cool weather has somewhat delayed the usual automobile tourist parties, but a few of these have already been here.Field's Newspaper is Burned Out: Fire about half past eleven on Monday night completely destroyed the building and entire printing outfit of the Fairfield Herald, of which Reuel Diller is the proprietor.The flames were first discovered by Miss Fannie Snyder, who resides on the other side of the street. She at once gave the alarm. John M. Musselman, who lives but a few doors away, next arrived on the scene. The church bells were rung and in a few minutes almost the entire population of the town was at the fire.When the first arrivals reached the scene the fire had gained little headway but the building was built of pine and burned fiercely before they could get any water on it.A large spring is near at hand, while the creek also flows near-
by. A bucket brigade was quickly formed and by valiant work
the blacksmith shop of Joseph Creager and the shed on the property of Mr. Diller were saved.Dusty Streets; No Sprinkler:The dust of the latter part of last week and the beginning of this caused considerable grumbling and complaint among the residents of town Houses and stores have shown the effects of the dust and the wind for several days blew the dust in such a lively manner that walking was exceedingly disagreeable. The Civic Club has been censured for not relieving conditions by getting out the sprinkler. An officer of that organization gave the following facts to a representative of the Times:The condition of the treasury of the Civic Club does not allow the working of the sprinkler until collections are made to defray the expenses of operating it. The exceedingly dry and dusty summer last year caused the sprinkler to be worked unusually hard and the receipts of the season barely covered the expenses.The first collections are for May and that is the earliest at which sprinkling can be done.
Another thing with which the organization has to contend is that the sprinkler is rapidly getting into such shape that it will soon either have to undergo extensive repairs or be replaced with a new one.The dust which Gettysburg has endured for several days only proved what the town would suffer during the summer months
if there were no sprinkler.Boy Badly Hurt In Runaway:
Dragged several hundred yards
by a frightened horse over rough roads to be rendered unconscious and to be seriously injured was the unfortunate experience of George Martin, the son of
J. B. Martin, Friday afternoon.
The boy had been driving his father's bread wagon over the route when the horse took fright and ran away.Today's Talk*THAT HELPING HANDI have a beautiful small painting of two boys climbing a huge cliff. One boy is reaching down to help the other boy up. It makes me think of that line "He climbs highest who helps another up."
We all need that helping hand to give us a lift, and to be reminded that we always need someone who will step up at the right time, to give a hand and a word of cheer when most in need.The Good Lord is forever seeking helping hands to carry on His work of bettering the world.
We must have that "reach" about which Browning wrote "... a man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's heaven for?" A little poem, that I call to mind, also says this, "Not hast thou won, but only hast thou striven."In the story of the Good Samaritan
we have another example where the helping hand of a stranger reached down and helped an unfortunate human being who needed help. It matters not that we go out of our way to help the one who is in distress, and put him on his feet again. That boy who comes from nowhere and makes himself ready to help another is on his way to a successful career.Farmers who need help during times like threshing exchange helpers with their neighbors. That helping hand does several things.
It makes good neighbors, and there is a social exchange of thoughts and suggestions. As a boy upon the farm I noticed how those helping hands got to work so all were benefited. It always lessens tension when people work and think together. Friends welcome the opportunity to "lend a hand."Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Promise of Hope."Protected, 1959, by The George

SEVEN TEAMS IN MAJOR LOOPS ARE UNBEATEN

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Major league baseball puts a finish to the business of "season openers" today with the National League champion Milwaukee Braves, San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers playing their first games at home. The Cleveland Indians, Chicago White Sox, Boston Red Sox and Baltimore Orioles make their home debuts in the American.

Seven of the majors' 16 clubs still are unbeaten. Six still are trying to get started.

Here's today's schedule of home openers:

American League
Kansas City at Chicago.
Detroit at Cleveland.
New York at Baltimore.
Washington at Boston.
National League
Philadelphia at Milwaukee.
Chicago at San Francisco.
St. Louis at Los Angeles (N)

Bucs Meet Reds
The Pittsburgh Pirates, surprising members of the winless six, are at Cincinnati tonight but hat doesn't qualify as an opener. It was at Cincinnati that the Pirates began their 0-3 frustration last Thursday.

The White Sox, who matched some fine relief pitching with some surprise power for a three-game sweep at Detroit, expect a crowd of about 23,000 at Comiskey Park for their debut against the A's, who were beaten by Cleveland in their only two starts.

The unbeaten Indians come home with hopes of pulling in 40,000 or more while giving Herb Score another test. The betroubled lefty was wild in a brief relief chore at Kansas City.

The Yankees (1-0) also have a test case on the mound, with Don Larsen still to prove that his bothersome shoulder is fit. The Orioles, who haven't played since losing Thursday's opener at Washington, estimate some 30,000 fans will show up.

Red Sox Battle Flv

The Red Sox, stymied by bad weather and the two-hit pitching of Bob Turley at New York last weekend, now are battling the flu. About 20,000 are expected at Fenway Park.

Warren Spahn, who shut out the Pirates last Friday, goes for No. 2 against the Phils, who beat Cincinnati in their lone start. Good weather is expected to bring 43,000 fans.

The Giants, 3-0 after their sweep at St. Louis, have a half-game edge over the Braves (2-0). They'll introduce their half of the trade with the Phils with Jack Sanford going for his seventh victory in 10 decisions against the Cubs. The Giants expect a sellout crowd of 23,000.

The Dodgers, who split a pair at Chicago last weekend, hope for 60,000 at the Coliseum.

Belittles Masters Golf Tournament

BOSTON (AP)—If the Masters golf tournament were played under the same conditions as the U.S. Open, the winning score each year would be about 300, says Sam Snead.

Snead, an old pro who should know, told an annual dinner of the New England PGA Monday night that the Masters is a great event, but if "the Augusta course were ricked up like the courses over which the Open is played" the scores would skyrocket.

"The players won't even recognize Winged Foot of New York in June when that course is set up for the championship," Snead said. Some of the fairways will be so narrow that even I will be able to jump across them."

Toronto Leafs Are Underdogs

TORONTO (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs are in a familiar role for tonight's third game of the Stanley hockey cup finals against the Montreal Canadiens. They're the underdogs.

The Leafs, who crossed the odds-makers by edging into National Hockey League playoffs three weeks ago and did it again last week by eliminating the Boston Bruins in the semifinal round, aren't given much of a chance to halt the Canadiens.

Toe Blake's club won the first two games of the best-of-seven series and needs only two more to make it a sweep. The next two games will be in Toronto.

Toronto bookies have made the Canadiens 8-5 favorites to win tonight's game.

The Canadiens have won the cup the last three seasons.

PROGRESS IN RESEARCH ON LEPROSY TOLD

By FRANK CAREY, N.J. (AP)

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A possible lead towards developing a long-sought vaccine against leprosy—one of man's oldest scourges—was reported today.

A government researcher announced successful growth in test tube tissue culture of bacteria which causes leprosy in rats. He indicated that his might open one way to:

1. Producing a vaccine against the rat disease.

2. Perhaps ultimately developing a vaccine against the human malady.

Elusive Organism
Dr. Y. T. Chang, of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases and the American Leprosy Foundation, gave this outline in a report to the 43rd annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

The bacillus that causes human leprosy is one of the wildest and most elusive organisms of the germ world.

For many years, he said, researchers have attempted to maintain growth of the organism outside its natural host, the human body. Though it grows vigorously inside the body, it stops multiplying and soon dies if placed in an artificial environment.

May Get Vaccine
Attempts to grow rat leprosy germs outside the living animal body have, until now, been tough.

Chang has come up with a cell culture in which the number of germs has increased seven times in seven weeks.

This is still not as fast as the germ multiplies inside the body, so attempts are being made to step up the rate.

If these attempts are successful, said Chang, it may be possible to produce a vaccine against rat leprosy just as the polio vaccine is produced from large cultures of polio virus. Such a vaccine might point the way to a similar preventive for the human disease.

Fined $100 For Breaking Camera

NEW YORK (AP)—It's going to cost Gordon Hollingworth of the Cleveland Barons $100 for breaking a photographer's camera in a ruckus at last Saturday's American Hockey League Game against Hershey.

The fine was levied Monday by League President Richard Canning, who said Hollingworth's conduct was "prejudicial to the game of hockey."

Hollingworth swung his stick at Tom Leask, a photographer for the Harrisburg Patriot-News, as Leask was taking a picture of an injured player, Canning said. Leask wasn't hurt, but his camera was smashed.

1,400 HONOR CAMPANELLA

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—"I'm glad I carried myself so they would not turn their heads now that I'm in trouble."

So said Roy Campanella, the semiparalyzed Los Angeles Dodgers catcher, to a sellout crowd of 1,400 at the second annual Dodgers Dinner Monday night.

"This club went over the mountain for me," said Campanella as he wiped tears from his eyes. He expressed gratitude to President Walter O'Malley and Vice President Buzzie Bavasi for his treatment in the year and one-half since the automobile accident that ended his playing career.

Campanella's appearance was the only solemn note in an evening otherwise devoted to levity.

The big question, said master of ceremonies Art Linkletter, is: "Can the Dodgers finish ahead of the Phils this year?"

The Dodgers finished seventh and Philadelphia eighth in the National League last season—Los Angeles' first year in major league baseball.

Manager Walt Alston promised that this would be a better club than in 1958 and humorously noted that both the Coliseum right field fence and the club's curfew hour have been shortened.

be a legal account. The accounting was made by an accountant and I can only assume from the listing given that probably it was made from income tax returns.

Farmers are not notoriously good bookkeepers. It may be that the accounting lists everything that is known. While it is deplorable, I am afraid many farmers, including some of the best, do not keep accurate records but simply file their income tax on their best guess as to expenditures and income.

Argument was held on the objections to the action to quiet title brought by Alton W. and Hallie Snyder, Fairfield R. D., against Lillian B. Pryor and several insurance companies. Mrs. Pryor was the mortgage holder on a property owned by the Snyders. When a house burned, Mrs. Pryor was paid by the insurance companies who then took over the mortgage against the Snyders. Much of the argument Monday was based on contention of the insurance companies that since the Snyders had not brought suit within a year they could not bring suit against the companies.

A petition to open judgment in the case of Lehigh Brickface against Donald F. and Eva M. Kuhn, scheduled for argument Monday, was reported settled.

Argument was heard in the exceptions to the findings of fact and conclusions of law in the report of the auditor in the estate of Bertha M. Wisotzky, late of Gettysburg. Argument was also scheduled to be heard in an equity action brought in the same matter, but attorneys agreed to drop the equity proceeding. The argument in the estate was based mostly on whether John Wisotzky, who had resided in half the house of his mother for many years, actually had a month to month lease or an annual lease on the property. He had paid $15 per month for years. Those opposing him contended the house was worth $30 a month and he should have been paying that amount when his mother died.

DEATRICK WILL FILED
The will of N. Blanche Deatrack, late of Biglerville, was entered for probate today in the office of the register and recorder. The entire estate was left to her sister, Zula D. Bowman, and Margaret S. Fohl was named executrix of the $1,000 estate.

BRAVES TO USE SPAHN AGAIN TO FACE PHILS

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee's talent-loaded Braves, confident of living up to the role as favorites for a third straight National League pennant, called on old pro Warren Spahn today for their flag-raising opener with the ambitious Philadelphia Phillies.

Spahn, the stylish southpaw with the big kick on delivery, was named by Manager Fred Haney for the honor of launching the Braves' 1959 home campaign after elaborate ceremonies for the raising of the pennant.

With a forecast of sunny and warm weather, more than 43,000 are expected to jam County Stadium for the start of the Braves' seventh season in Milwaukee.

However, for the first time since the club's historic move from Boston, some 1,500 tickets were unsold on the eve of a home debut.

Spahn, who will be 38 next week, was to be opposed by either right-hander Ruben Gomez or southpaw Seth Morehead. Philadelphia Manager Eddie Sawyer delayed a decision after calling off plans to start veteran Robin Roberts following a postponed game Sunday.

The Braves won their first two games on the road last week with Spahn posting his 44th major league shutout by blanking Pittsburgh on seven hits in the opener.

Roomie Lew Burdette beat the Pirates the next day.

BERMUDIAN JT. SNARES FIFTH

Charley Chronister hurled one-hit ball as Bermudian Joint blanked Big Spring Monday afternoon 2-0 at York Springs for the upper counties' fifth triumph in six starts.

The lone hit off Chronister was a single by Fry in the sixth inning with one out. Chronister fanned 11 and walked four.

Bermudian's runs came in the third inning. Ralph Myers singled and moved to second on an outfield miscue. George Williams singled and Chronister sacrificed as Myers scored, Williams moving to third. A short time later Williams stole home.

Today Bermudian plays at Littlestown as the Adams County League starts action.

Two Presidents Dedicate Towering Shaft To Taft

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower dedicated a towering memorial today to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. He praised Taft as a man who gave generously and unstintingly of himself "for the good of all America."

Eisenhower honored a former political rival and ally at ceremonies at the base of a 100-foot bell tower erected at the foot of Capitol Hill in memory of the Ohio senator.

Taft, Eisenhower said, was a liberal in championing individual rights and the symbol of conservatism in everything affecting the national economy.

Hoover Participates
Former President Herbert Hoover and high government officials also participated with Eisenhower in the dedication.

Hoover depicted Taft as a man who chose to die with his boots on rather than to desert his post. He called Taft "an official with a social conscience" and said: "He not only would not desert his post, he never deserted his people."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) arranged to accept the marble tower on behalf of Congress.

"Priceless Friendship"
Eisenhower, in a brief prepared address, voiced his personal gratitude to Taft for "the priceless gift of friendship" and the wisdom and experience offered by the senator "whenever I needed him most."

To Eisenhower, Taft was the rival over whom the former general strode to the Republican presidential nomination in 1952. Taft also was the Republican leader in the Senate in the Eisenhower administration's infancy.

"All knew him as a commanding figure on Capitol Hill," Eisenhower said.

"To the people of the United States he was a liberal in his championship of individual rights and opportunity, but he was also the very symbol of informed and responsible conservatism in everything affecting the nation's economy. He was, by his own definition, a politician. An admiring nation now acknowledges that he was infinitely more."

In tracing Taft's contribution to the nation, Hoover told of an unsuccessful visit he made to Washington July 1, 1953, in an effort to convince the Ohio senator he ought to return to New York Hospital for treatment of his illness. Taft died on July 31 that year of cancer.

The former president quoted "My friend, you know what is the matter with me. I am going to die with my boots on."

Taft as telling him:

New Heavyweight Prospect Looming

NEW YORK (AP)—Alonzo Johnson, an outstanding heavy-weight prospect, had a winning streak of 11 today and a good chance of getting a crack at a ranking fighter in a television bout.

"He looks like a real comer," said Harry Markson, general manager of boxing for Madison Square Garden. "I'm going to try and match him with one of the top 10 fighters."

Markson was scouting talent for the Friday night network TV fight program.

Johnson, a 6-foot, 187½-pounder from Pittsburgh, racked up No. 11 by gaining a split decision over Billy Hunter, 6-3, 192-pounder from Detroit, at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

Unbeaten in two years, Johnson now has a 14-1 record. Hunter's record now is 12-6-1.

Ludwig Erhard Has Plans Of His Own

BONN, Germany (AP)—Ludwig Erhard said today that if he succeeds Konrad Adenauer as chancellor he will follow Adenauer's basic principles on foreign policy but may engage in some different tactical maneuvers.

Erhard, 62, who is economics minister, set forth this view before the Foreign Press Assn. It was his first appearance before the press since Adenauer announced a week ago he will give up the chancellorship to run for the more ceremonial post of president.

Erhard is regarded as the leading candidate to succeed Adenauer. But he refused to announce himself as a candidate.

Stripped Down Sales Tax Increase Bill Passed By House Democrats Monday

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP) — The House, using only Democratic votes, Monday night passed a bill to increase the sales tax revenue by 153 million dollars principally through increasing the rate from 3 to 3½ per cent.

The vote was 107-96. It came after 40 days of indecision.

The senate immediately set up a post-midnight session tonight to act on the measure, now stripped of controversial sections that would have extended the levy to trade-ins and alcoholic drinks.

Means $250,000 Daily
Gov. Lawrence's signature on the bill Wednesday would start an added $250,000 a day flowing into the state treasury.

Less than an hour after the House vote, the Senate Finance Committee sent the bill to the floor of the upper branch. Sen. James S. Berger, Republican floor leader, predicted its passage. The post-midnight session would be in keeping with a constitutional requirement that a bill must be considered by each branch on each of three legislative days.

He said six of the 26-member Republican majority would be asked to join 21 Democratic senators in voting for the measure. Lawrence has taken political responsibility for the sales tax increase first proposed by a bipartisan Tax Study Committee.

On Utility Bills
As rewritten by the House, Monday night after a break in the tax stalemate, the sales tax would be extended for the first time to electric and telephone bills, repair and service charges such as auto washes, and utility maintenance equipment and tools.

The proposed 3½ per cent sales tax also would apply to restaurant meals costing 11 cents or more. At present, restaurant checks of less than 50 cents are exempt.

Separate bills were introduced to extend the tax to automobile and other trade-ins beer and liquor drinks sold over the bar; the two provisions knocked out of the original legislation.

First Defeated
The old sales tax bill was defeated, 86-119, on March 19 because it contained these controversial provisions. Seventeen House Democrats joined solid GOP opposition in rejecting that legislation.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, said he was unable to estimate how many, if any Republican votes would be offered to help pass either or both of the new bills.

But he emphasized that GOP assemblymen would be free of any caucus restrictions on the measures.

"We have some prohibitionists on our side who may vote for the beer and liquor tax," he told The Associated Press. "I don't know about the automobile trade-ins but maybe the Democrats can pass that without any Republican votes."

Pass Radio Bill
Other legislative developments: Radio calls—The House passed Monday night and sent to the Senate legislation to make illegal any car radio that can intercept police calls.

Its sponsors contended it would doom what they termed the tow truck racket. Some tow truck operators, said Rep. Thomas J. McCormack (D-Phila.), beat police cars to the scene of an accident by intercepting police radio calls.

Mercantile tax—Rep. J. P. Moran (D-Allegheny) submitted a bill to impose a 2 per cent state mercantile tax. Prospects for its passage were considered remote.

Coal For Highways
Coal Highway base—Eleven Republican senators asked for a half-million-dollar appropriation to finance a state test of a plan for using coal as a material for paving highways.

Curtiss-Wright Corp. unveiled its research results last week and asked the state highways department to test the material by paving 12 half-mile sections of road with it.

Break Came Monday
TAXES — The House also gave its approval to a companion measure to the sales tax increasing the hotel occupancy tax from 3 to 3½ per cent. It was also in position for Senate passage in the post-midnight session.

The break in the sales tax impasse came Monday when an agreement was reached between the governor and Republican and Democratic legislative leaders.

The agreement was carried out on the House floor and when the vote was over Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader, told townsmen:

"I am proud of every Democrat in this House to have voted 107 out of 107 for this bill. That's all I have to say."

Worley Dissents
Rep. Francis R. Worley (R-Adams) turned out to be the only assemblyman to speak out against the revised bill. Despite the changes, he said it would discriminate against the poor and favor the rich. He said it gives Pennsylvania the highest sales tax rate in the nation.

Rep. John E. Whittaker (R-Lycoming) asked whether the bill would apply to services offered by professional people, courthouse employees and in churches. Democrats told him these services would continue to be tax-exempt.

Other Tax Measures
Neither McCann nor Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, would speculate on prospects for the remainder of the governor's tax program designed to balance the Commonwealth's $1,907,000,000 budget for the two-year fiscal period starting June 1. It would raise 136 million dollars by reviving the cent-a-bottle soft drinks tax, imposing a 25 per cent levy on cigars, chewing and smoking tobacco, a 14-mill tax on gross receipts of gas companies, an underground natural storage tax, a six-mill tax on personal property and by increasing the bank shares tax by four mills.

Dulles' Influence Will Be Felt At Geneva Conference Even If He Is Not Present

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
John Foster Dulles once remarked: "Time is the most valuable thing in life, and I don't want to waste it."

Time works against him now. While he battles cancer in the hospital, the hour is swiftly approaching when the policies on which he based America's prosecution of the cold war will face momentous trials.

In less than a month, the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union are scheduled to meet to prepare the way for a summit meeting of government heads. It is possible the United States will be represented in Geneva by a new secretary of state.

Will Feel Influence
But the influence of John Foster Dulles will be present in any case. The past six years demonstrated the tremendous impact a single personality can have upon a nation's policy and the course of history.

Basically, perhaps, American policy in a time of cold war would have been pretty much the same under any secretary of state. But it makes a great deal of difference how those policies are interpreted and carried out.

Dulles' solemn, almost evangelistic approach and his stubborn defense of moral principles have left little room for compromise on any fundamental issue of what he considered right or wrong.

Christian Principles
Perhaps U.S. policy might have done better if its architect had been more deliberately cynical in dealing with a cynical enemy. Dulles seems to have denied himself that weapon out of conviction that a civilized Western nation's diplomacy should rely on the moral force of Christian principles. Possibly this was a little naive in today's world. But in the matter of assessing his antagonists, Dulles has displayed little naivete.

"We are devoting billions in money and our highest talents to preparation for a fighting war, a war that may never come," Dulles wrote long before he became secretary. "The strength of our society is being undermined by the cold war that is here and which could finally defeat us."

Aware Of Red Scheme
Dulles has never lost sight of that possibility. Apparently he still believes the Kremlin is intent upon world domination through Communist expansion. The cornerstone of his policy has been a determination to convince the Kremlin it can never succeed.

The post of secretary of state always has been an easy and popular target for criticism, and Dulles has aroused many storms. Educated opinion both at home and abroad attributes U.S. policy not to President Eisenhower — as it had to presidents before him — but directly to Dulles. He bore the full brunt of criticism when he solemnly issued such verbal thunderbolts as "agonizing reappraisal" and "massive retaliation."

Only time will tell whether he will be vindicated. But time will not wait for him. Important cold war contests are ahead. Will the United States be represented by a man equal in rank to the other foreign ministers?

Dulles and President Eisenhower face another agonizing reappraisal. Dulles' influence surely will be felt at Geneva, but perhaps he and the President will decide the time has come to give the reins of U.S. policy into other hands.

Governor's Press Secretary Resigns

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence's press secretary, John Frasca, will resign the post April 27 to become editor of a weekly newspaper published in Philadelphia by the Sons of Italy.

His resignation was submitted in writing Monday to the Revenue Department because technically he was carried on that agency's payroll under Gov. Lawrence's austerity program. Frasca said he had previously told the governor and Walter Giesey, secretary of administration, of his plans.

Frasca is a former Philadelphia newsman.

IT'S TROUBLE AFTER TROUBLE SON, MOTHER HAVE REUNION

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Elmer Schweikert's car had been in a repair shop since January. So when he got it out Monday, it naturally felt a bit frisky.

As Elmer tells it, he was driving to his home outside Phoenixville when he was distracted for a moment by a feeling of illness.

The next thing he knew, the car had bounced off a parked automobile, sheared off a stop sign, and gotten stuck in the front door of a grocery store.

Down came the groceries from the shelves, and two people in the store, plus Elmer, were treated at a hospital—Elmer for shock. He had just paid a north Philadelphia shop $1,200 to repair the damage of a Christmas-time smashup.

Now he faces another repair bill, and two other headaches. For the police gave Elmer a ticket accusing him of reckless driving, and another telling him he should have put a 1959 tag on his license plate before he drove home — or tried to.

WANTS WORLD COURT TO UMP BIG DISPUTES

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon proposes that the World Court be made the umpire in disputes arising from any future East-West agreements. U.S. dedication to a strong military position reduces the chance of deliberate war, he said. But as long as force remains the final arbiter of international disputes there will always be the possibility of "war by miscalculation," he added.

Nixon spoke Monday night at the Academy of Political Science. His proposal is not yet the official United States position, he said, but he has discussed it at length with Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and officials of the State Department. He said he is convinced the proposal deserves serious consideration.

The World Court — the International Court of Justice — is the principal judicial organ of the United Nations. It is composed of 15 judges elected by the General Assembly and the Security Council of the U.N.

The court, which sits at the Hague, Netherlands, cannot consider any case not voluntarily submitted to it by one or more nations, and has no power to enforce a decision.

Nixon proposed that nations signing future international agreements agree to be bound by the court's interpretation.

ABSECON, N.J. (AP)—A sympathetic police chief and a newspaper brought a mother and her son together Monday after 20 years.

He was 3 years old when his parents split up, Donald Phelps told Cape May Police Chief William Matthews last Saturday. Phelps' father had put him in an orphanage soon after.

When he was old enough to leave, Phelps said, his dream of finding his mother became a search that took him as far away as Missouri. Then the 23-year-old youth was led to believe his mother, remarried and using a name he did not know, was somewhere in Cape May County.

The police chief told the Atlantic City Press, which described the long search in an article Monday.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Butler of Absecon called Chief Matthews within a few hours and the search was over. Donald Phelps and his mother were reunited.

New Sub Plunges Deeper, Goes Faster Than Others

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The atomic submarine Skipjack, with seven congressmen aboard, plunged effortlessly to new ocean depths at record speeds over the weekend.

The whale-shaped Skipjack, to be commissioned Wednesday, ploughed deeper and reached speeds greater than any known submarine in history. It returned to its berth here Sunday. Members of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy who made the trial run and took turns at the controls were visibly impressed.

Give No Details
The Navy would give no details but Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), chairman of the committee, said in a statement: "For security reasons I can only say that we were deeper than 400 feet and moving faster than 20 knots."

The Navy, as early as four years ago, listed such speeds and depths for their first atomic submarines. Exact figures have always been classified.

The committee took a similar trial run in 1955 on the atomic undersea craft Nautilus. Anderson said the speed of the Skipjack was "substantially above the speed achieved in the Nautilus." Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) called the trip "one of the most thrilling experiences of my life." Other committee members were Sens. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), John O. Pastore (D-RI) and George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), and Reps. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) and Jack Westland (R-Wash.).

Actress And King May Have Romance

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Actress Susan Cabot flew to New York Sunday night, thereby encouraging rumors she is having a romance with Jordan's King Hussein.

Hussein, who met her while he was visiting in Southern California is now in Detroit. He is due in New York today.

The couple dated several times after meeting at a party. Susan, a petite divorcee of 31, termed Hussein "the most charming man I have ever met."

Hussein, who is 23 and also divorced, has maintained a regal silence about the affair.

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands (AP) — Eduard Van Beinum, 59, one of the world's leading symphony conductors, suffered a heart attack and died Monday during a rehearsal with the Amsterdam Concertgebouw Orchestra.

Van Beinum had conducted the Concertgebouw since 1937. Since 1957 he also had been music director of the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

Boy Shot After Stealing Candy

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Thronging in downtown Philadelphia witnessed a police chase Monday in which a youth was shot and finally captured only a block from City Hall.

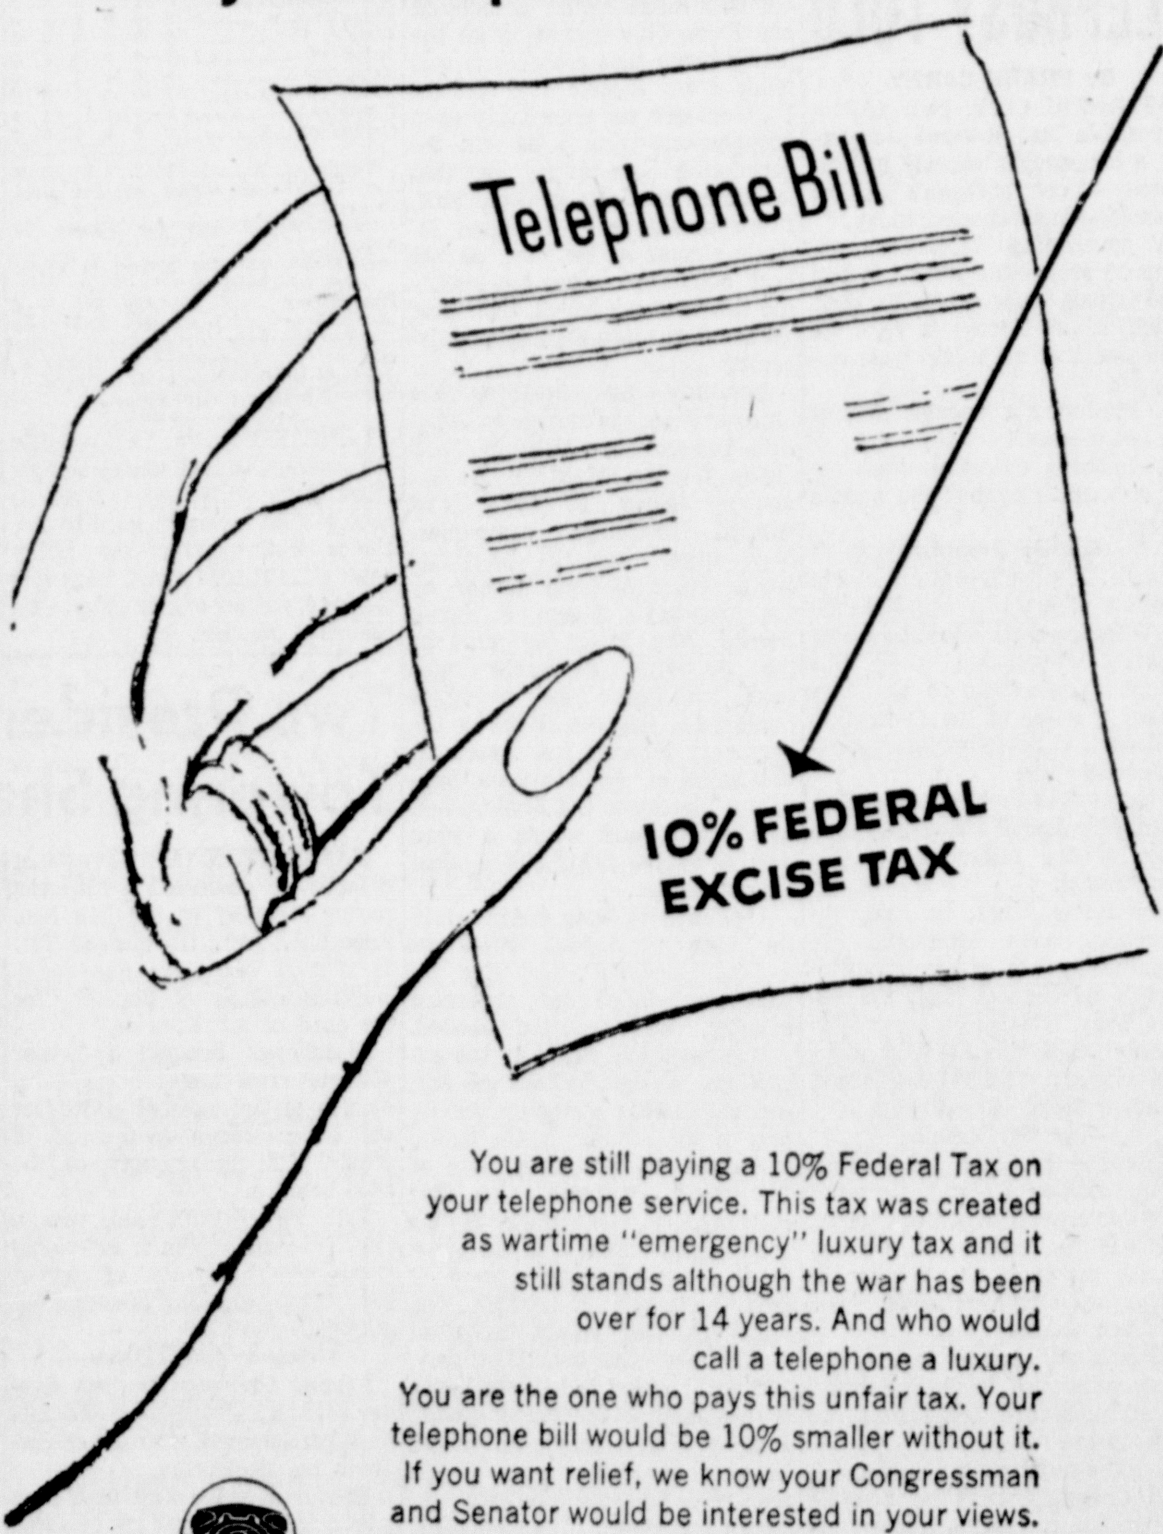

Wounded in the seven-block chase was Frank Johnson, 17. He was captured at gunpoint by Patrolman William Pfender at the John Wanamaker department store.

The chase was started by detectives Henry Belli and Nicholas Baroni. They said they were in a drugstore and saw Johnson pick up a box of candy and leave without paying.

Johnson was treated at a hospital and then jailed on theft and other charges.

It's time to take this tax off your telephone bill

You are still paying a 10% Federal Tax on your telephone service. This tax was created as wartime "emergency" luxury tax and it still stands although the war has been over for 14 years. And who would call a telephone a luxury. You are the one who pays this unfair tax. Your telephone bill would be 10% smaller without it. If you want relief, we know your Congressman and Senator would be interested in your views.

Novelist Says Books Fill Needs As Nothing Else Can

Editor's Note — This week thousands of communities are observing the second National Library Week, sponsored by the National Book Committee in cooperation with the American Library Assn. Here a well known novelist explains what books and libraries mean to her.

By TAYLOR CALDWELL
Written For The Associated Press

It is an old aphorism that we never miss what we have until it has gone.

We take books for granted, all the glory, tragedy, humor, sadness and adventure, which books contain, all the companionship and the inspiration, all the new paths they open for us, the new places, the new scenes, the new people, the wisdom, the golden thoughts, the laughter.

A book is a passport to the world, and it is only when we lose that passport that we discover that we are homeless, that the world of men is closed to us, that we are bound and exiled, with no place to go, and that we have lost touch with our fellows.

Courage From Books

There are some who say that it is much worse to be hungry and homeless and unwanted than it is to have books. I disagree. I have been hungry, homeless and unwanted, and I filled all the barren space with the books I borrowed and I was consoled and inspired, and I was given courage.

The first terrifying experience of not having books—that is, unable to read them—occurred when I was 14 years old. I had been wandering in some woods and a thorn tree whipped at me and injured my right eye. For two weeks thereafter, I was forbidden to read until my eye healed.

There was music in our home, but music is only part of the world. I could walk on the streets, but the street was only a tiny section of living. I could talk with others, but talk does not convey a man's real thoughts. For a few days I had to live in a darkened room, and to this day darkness means terror to me and emptiness, a place without thought or being.

Like Starving Man

When I was finally permitted to read I fell on books as a starving man falls on food and I could not get enough of them, and I still can't, for without books there is a spiritual darkness.

A home without a library is not a home at all. The library does not have to be a special room. For many, many years my only library was three wooden shelves I put up myself in a rented room. Once my library consisted only of a suitcase.

Music and pictures, friends and entertainment are only part of living. But books are all of living, for in them are music, pictures, friends and entertainment. A book contains the thoughts of the ages; the most modern book is only an echo of books written hundreds, even thousands of years ago. It is man's greatest monument — the book. The written word is man's noblest invention. A people without an alphabet and books are a people without civilization. They remain at the primitive level of beasts. "A man who does not read," said Plato, "is a creature who is not fully a man."

Plane Is Downed; Two Idle Engines

AKRON, Colo., (AP) — An airliner with 61 persons aboard landed on a snow-soft emergency field here Sunday night with only two of its four engines functioning.

Capt. D. L. Boone of Los Angeles brought down the American Airlines DC7 smoothly. There were no injuries.

The 56 passengers on the non-stop flight from Washington, D.C. to Los Angeles, were taken by bus to Denver, 90 miles west, where a DC 7 ferried in from Chicago picked them up and continued the trip.

The pilot said a governor failed on the No. 2 engine on the left side. The engine spewed parts which ripped into neighboring No. 1 engine.

FRANK WRIGHT BURIED SUNDAY

SPRING GREEN, Wis. (AP) — Frank Lloyd Wright, an architectural genius who called the world his workshop, was buried Sunday in a secluded country churchyard near his boyhood home.

Wright died Thursday at Phoenix, Ariz., after surgery for removal of an intestinal obstruction. He was 89.

His body was borne to its final resting place in a horse-drawn farm wagon, draped in red velvet and edged with cut flowers.

His widow and a daughter led a procession of more than 50 mourners who followed on foot as the wagon moved down the winding road leading from Wright's hillside home to Unity Chapel, half a mile away.

Some 200 crowded the small,

CHILDREN LOST IN 3 STATES FOUND SUNDAY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All-night searches for three youngsters lost in widely separated parts of the nation had happy endings Sunday.

Two little boys were missing in rough mountain country in Colorado and Washington, while a tiny girl wandered away from home in Michigan.

Some 150 searchers, aided by two planes and a bloodhound, combed the woods and pastures near St. Joseph, Mich., for three-year-old Virginia Lee Ford before she was found unharmed and asleep in a weed-covered field about a mile from her home.

Girl Wore Snowsuit

The girl, wearing a snowsuit, apparently suffered no ill effects from the sub-freezing weather, doctors said.

In the far West, bloodhounds led searchers to five-year-old Brian Brehmeyer as he cuddled a pet beagle in the foothills west of Shelton, Wash.

Brian, one of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brehmeyer, had wandered from home Saturday. He endured 20 hours of waiting and 40-degree temperatures before greeting his rescuers: "I pine-sheltered chapel.

The Rev. Max Gaehler of the First Unitarian Society in Madison said in eulogy that Wright was "a great man, a great artist, but more than that a beloved husband and father and friend."

Wright was born near Richland Center, 20 miles from his burial place.

didn't cry."

Planes, a helicopter and dogs joined the search south of Grand Junction, Colo., for frail Sammy Jennings, 7.

Left Family Picnic

The 55-pound first-grader strayed from a family picnic Saturday. He has sight in only one eye, is in poor health and has a speech impediment.

Searchers found him 18 hours later atop a pinnacle of rock in the remote Unaweep Canyon area. "I prayed to Jesus all night long," the boy murmured. "I was too scared to go to sleep, and I got awful hungry. I just prayed and prayed."

The temperature dipped to 29 degrees early Sunday at Grand Junction.

Convicted Yank Faces New Charge

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Burning of three F51 fighter planes here Oct. 9 could mean more trouble for Alan Robert Nye, soldier of fortune who left Cuba under a death sentence.

While imprisoned in Havana, Nye allegedly admitted setting fire to the three surplus fighter planes at Broward International Airport. The planes were awaiting delivery to Cuba.

Ben Grigsby, chief investigator for the Broward Sheriff's Department, said he would confer with county prosecutors to decide whether a warrant should be issued for Nye's arrest on arson charges.

PRINCE HEADS CLASS

LONDON (AP)—Prince Charles is losing his reputation as a duffer at mathematics.

The 10-year-old heir to the British throne headed his class in math and geography last term at Cheam School.

BARR, M'BRIDE AT ODDS OVER CANDIDACY

HARRISBURG (AP) — Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, and Justice Thomas D. McBride are at odds over McBride's qualifications to serve on the Supreme Court.

Barr described McBride as "a poor, highly controversial" candidate in a statement issued Monday after a closed meeting with Democratic county chairmen.

Informed of Barr's statement, McBride replied:

"What does he mean — 'highly controversial'? Barr always lavished praise of my conduct in the office of attorney general."

Named To Vacancy

McBride was named to a vacancy on the high court by former Gov. Leader over the protests of state Democratic leaders. He is opposing the party's organization candidate, Judge Michael J. Eagen, of Lackawanna County, for a full, 21-year term on the court in the May 19 primary election. McBride also is seeking the Republican nomination.

Barr issued his statement in reply to a telegram from McBride who asked why the organization withheld its support from him.

"He (McBride) was unable to advance one single reason why he should make an acceptable candidate," said Barr. "If anything, his conduct since then has amply demonstrated the wisdom of the Policy Committee."

Eagen Endorsed

The Policy Committee endorsed Eagen.

McBride said no one on the Policy Committee had ever asked him to state his qualifications.

"No one gave me an opportunity to present my qualifications," said the Philadelphia, adding:

"I thought this ought to be a free primary. I filed as a candidate. Is that a political sin?"

FORTY IN BOOTH

NAMPA, Idaho (AP) — This time it's 40 students—or parts of them — packed in a telephone booth.

Students of Northwest Nazarene College did it Monday and claim it's a new record. They say the rules — there are rules? — put a person inside the booth if he gets an arm or leg in somewhere.

The scholars say only 10 students really got completely inside.

ALLAYS FEARS OF MOTHERS ON VIOLENCE IN TV

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — The mail recently has brought expressions of vague apprehension from several mothers as to whether some television programs may induce violence in their children.

Curiously this seems to worry mothers especially in the spring. Positively, mothers, I am not the man to reassure you. The minds of children are as mysterious to me as atomic energy—and infinitely more interesting. The only aid I have in trying to understand a child is a pretty good memory of my own childhood.

Read Trash, Too

I grew up long before the age of television. If TV had existed when I was a child I believe that I would have been an insatiable viewer of westerns and actions and cops-robbers, for action and violence of all kinds fascinated me.

Perhaps because I lacked television I became an omnivorous reader when quite young. Aesop's Fables bored me. I liked suspense and danger.

I read an appalling amount of trash besides the good books my parents offered. Reading did not make me especially wise; to the contrary, books often made me act stupidly.

My allowance never was big enough to take me to all the movies of violence that I wanted to see. The local weekly newspaper presented a solution by running a children's page in which it offered a free movie pass for each story it accepted from an author under 15.

Comparatively Mild

Nearly every week for longer than I care to remember I published a short tale of violence in return for a pass to a movie of violence.

Despite my early predilection for violence, however, I somehow have avoided a life of crime. Furthermore, I don't even enjoy looking at westerns much.

Today, when I see children absorbed by the ka-pow, ka-pow of action in a TV program, I can't get very alarmed. I think the action on the TV screen is pretty mild compared to the action I used to imagine. They kill only three or four on a TV program these days. I used to kill hundreds.

PHILA. SLAYER IS EXECUTED

BELLEfonte, Pa. (AP)—Lester Graves, convicted Philadelphia slayer, was electrocuted Monday night at Rockview State Penitentiary—the 345th person to die in Pennsylvania's electric chair. Graves, 23, walked quietly to the death chamber and appeared calm as he was strapped into the chair. He glanced around the chamber several times before executioner Jerome Kremer, Pittsburgh, sent the 2,000-volt current through his body.

Graves was convicted of fatally beating his 4-year-old stepdaughter, Andrea Freeman, 17 months ago while her mother was absent from their Philadelphia home.

It was the first execution in Pennsylvania since Harry Gosard died at Rockview on June 4, 1956 for the Halloween night "trick-or-treat" slaying of a girl near Johnstown.

The electric chair has been used as the state's form of capital punishment since 1915.

WOULD RAISE TAX CEILING

HARRISBURG (AP) — A 15-mill increase in the tax ceiling for fourth class school districts was proposed in a House bill introduced Monday night.

Sponsored by three York County Democrats, it would set a new limit of 40 mills. The tax is collected on assessed value of real estate.

About 1,900 of the state's 2,500 school districts are designated as fourth class.

The measure also would raise to 57½ mills the amount a fourth class school district can levy on property to pay for school building constructions and teachers' salaries. Reps. John R. Gailey Jr., H. H. Perry and Carl W. Nelson were the sponsors.

ASK SHRINE TO TOM MIX

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania legislature has been asked to establish an historical shrine in honor of the late Tom Mix, a native son who rode to fame as a star of silent movie westerns.

Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron) introduced a House bill Monday night asking the state to take over and restore the farmhouse in Gibson Township, Cameron County, where Mix was born. He asked for a $25,000 appropriation.

Tompkins said only the foundations of the old Mix farmhouse is still standing and the property is no longer owned by the family. Mix moved away to DuBois when he was about 7 or 8. In his teens he left Pennsylvania for good to seek his fame and fortune in the West.

PLAN PRELIM SHOT AT VENUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans to launch a 50-pound satellite next month as a preliminary step toward exploring the planet Venus.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said Sunday night the launching will be attempted from Cape Canaveral, Fla., under NASA supervision. He said a follow-up attempt probably will be made in June to send a satellite into the vicinity of Venus.

Next month's satellite, equipped with four rectangular fins, will have a solar battery much more powerful than the one contained in Vanguard I. The first Vanguard, launched almost 13 months ago, still is orbiting and its solar-powered transmitter is still sending signals. The fins on the planned satellite will provide more area for gathering solar energy.

NASA hopes the new satellite will orbit at a peak altitude of 20,000 to 30,000 miles, dipping to a low altitude of 200 miles. It will contain devices to measure cosmic rays and check magnetic fields.

When Mrs. Eling entered shortly afterward she saw her husband raise a gun to his head and fire. He died instantly.

GUARD LIFE OF GOVERNOR

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Police Monday maintained an unprecedented security vigil about Virginia's governor after a reported attempt on his life.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. was shot at Friday, officers said, as he walked near the executive mansion en route to the Capitol. Capitol police doubled their guard at the mansion. State and Richmond city police promised closer surveillance of the Capitol grounds.

"I hate to see more security around here, but I guess I should take the advice of the police authorities," Almond said.

The Virginia governor recently has been the target of abuse and threats from anonymous telephone callers and letter writers who accuse him of selling out in the school segregation issue.

Almond, once an advocate of massive resistance to school integration, recently has taken a more moderate stand.

TRAFFIC, SONIC BOOM MAJOR AIR PROBLEMS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force vice chief of staff, said Monday some of the newest military jet planes produce sonic booms 100 miles wide.

"So far as we know today, there are no technical or scientific solutions to counter this phenomenon," LeMay said in a talk prepared for the opening session of the World Congress of Flight here.

"We also know — from the amount of fan mail we receive on this subject — that these pressure waves, aside from causing considerable apprehension and discomfort, in some cases inflict physical damage to property."

Traffic Problem

LeMay declared that high airplane speeds and increased aircraft population have crowded usable air space to the degree where air safety and traffic control have become the major limiting problems.

If positive control of current traffic at all times was attempted with present equipment, three out of four planes would be unable to leave the ground, he said.

FINED $1,000

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Walter Kramer, 39-year-old East McKeesport builder, Monday was fined $1,000 and sentenced to five months in prison for concealing assets from a federal bankruptcy receiver.

U. S. District Court Judge Rabe Marsh also placed Kramer on two years' probation. Judge Marsh said Kramer automatically will serve an additional 10 months in prison if he fails to pay the fine and the costs of prosecution, estimated at $2,000, within one year.

Kramer went bankrupt last December with liabilities of $127,321 and very few assets. Last Feb. 13 he was found guilty of concealing his assets by transporting heavy equipment to Florida.

Space Traffic Cops And Planet Flights In 10 Years

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Space traffic cops and flights to other planets say the experts are possibly just a decade away.

These were the major predictions today at the Space Forum of the Southwest got under way with some of the nation's top space scientists participating.

Dr. Hubertus Strughold predicted interplanetary flights within a decade "if the Einstein-based theory of time-curvature holds true."

Space Traffic Cops

Dr. Andrew G. Haley said space traffic cops would be necessary in the age of interplanetary travel and are becoming increasingly needed each day.

Strughold, advisor for research at the School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., said that if time actually stands still in the long journey to the stars we may be on the threshold of space travel.

Dr. Haley, president of the International Astronautical Federation and a Washington, D.C., attorney, said traffic cops of space even are needed now.

Lawyers Worrying

Haley and Strughold made their statements in separate press conferences Monday as a prelude to the Space Age Forum, sponsored by the University of Texas.

Haley said lawyers already are worrying over who owns space. He said it is an immediate problem between nations throwing missiles and satellites into the heavens.

"Earth-orbiting missiles," he said, "do not atomize and they could drop chunks of steel onto Dallas or Buckingham Palace—big chunks of steel."

Stability Needed

The United Nations, he said, should set up a traffic control system.

SAYS CREATIVE

Beidel said as he warned: "Don't apply your own critical powers too soon to your own new ideas and those of others." He recommended group "brainstorming" sessions as one of the most productive means for finding new ideas or solutions to problems.

"It makes use of the old saying that two heads are better than one and it has been found that two heads will get more ideas if they're working in a group."

President John C. Stabile presided at the meeting with about 70 members in attendance.

The club voted $25 to the Salvation Army and $10 as a special contribution to the Child Welfare Services. Plans were announced for a ladies' night next week at the Hotel Gettysburg. President Stabile announced this Nominating committee to report in May: Earl E. Ziegler, Eugene Hartman and Donald Ulrich. The election will be held in June.

TALLULAH B. ASKS SOLONS TO AID ACTORS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tallulah Bankhead returned to Congress and asked the precious dahlings there to help her fellow actors.

"I don't know why y'all make me so nervous," she told the House Ways and Means Committee Monday. "I've been sitting on everybody's knee up here since I was two."

Tallulah, wearing her mink just off her shoulder and not appearing a bit nervous, reminded the congressmen her uncle, granddaddy and daddy all had served in Congress. Her daddy, the late William B. Bankhead, had been speaker of the House.

Testifying for Actors Equity Assn., she asked that unemployment compensation be given to actors out of work, as so many of them often are.

Not For Herself

Perhaps, she admitted, they ought not be actors, but she added: "Maybe you shouldn't be elected to Congress, who knows?" Tallulah made certain the congressmen knew she wasn't asking jobless payments for herself.

"It's all new to me," she said, "I didn't know such a thing existed."

Nevertheless, the actress, who had flown to Washington from New York, was convinced Congress should approve legislation for jobless actors.

"I had to get up at 5 a.m. this morning," she explained, "so for that reason alone I think this bill should be passed."

Peggy Cass Speaks

Tallulah did not have the whole show for herself. Actors Equity also had asked redheaded Peggy Cass, a Broadway and television star, to read a statement.

When Tallulah said the unemployment compensation program was new to her, Miss Cass assured her:

"I know the answers, honey. 'You always do, dahling.' Tallulah retorted.

As Miss Cass stepped to the witness chair to read her statement, she said: "I feel like Bugs Bunny following mighty Joe Young."

tors Monday evening that eased requirements at the high school may hold expenses down to $5,000 to meet state requirements in the original section of the building.

They said Lincoln School can be put in use in the fall for $9,500 to $15,000, depending upon number of rooms developed through remodeling and wishes of the state Department of Public Instruction.

The architects, describing Meade School as "a mess," said it will take $25,000 to place it in compliance with regulations. If the work is temporary, the state might reduce requirements, the board was told.

Cite Use of Lodge

In the discussion on housing the high school students in the fall, the suggestion came up again that the high school lodge, now unoccupied, be remodeled as office space to free two offices in the high school building for classrooms. Rough estimates have placed that probable cost at about $10,000.

Decision on that matter was delayed until future use of Lincoln School is determined. If Seventh graders are placed there next fall, the lodge might not have to be pressed into office use.

The architects said that by late next week they expect to have state Department of Public Instruction decisions on plans already approved by Labor and Industry for Meade and Lincoln. That report will go to the Finance and Planning and Property committees of the board for study and recommendation.

"Temporary Quarters"

Depending upon decisions on the size and number of rooms desired at Lincoln, it could wind up with eight or 10 classrooms. Don Risler, Buchart architect, advised the board to think of Lincoln only as "temporary quarters."

He pointed out various shortcomings of the building including its lack of play area, the likelihood that the state may soon order classroom lavatories and other improvements.

Meade School stairways have to be replaced, extensive changes have to be made in the basement, eight doorways on the two upper floors will have to be closed to make way for staircase enclosures and a second floor corridor must be supplied. If concrete and steel stairs are built the figure will top the $25,000 estimate, the board was told.

tributed to the member boards showing each share of the $184,938 yet to be paid into the joint school district treasury before July 1 in the current year.

Defer Huge Request

The directors tabled for one year one request for expenditure of school funds that would have had an effect on the new budget. A letter was read from Dr. William S. Hart, director of the Gettysburg Symphony Orchestra, asking that the board set aside a sum equal to the starting salary of three teachers — $11,400 — toward the cost of providing children's concerts for the schools here.

With many agreeing that such concerts would be "a very fine thing," the directors tabled the matter for more information and because of questions that could not be answered on the scheduling of the concerts, the legality of use of school funds for out-of-school programs and other details.

Support HB 1108

The directors also adopted a resolution calling on the legislature to pass House Bill 1108 which would increase the maximum subsidy base for appropriations to school districts. The directors said that mounting school costs, some of them by state orders, require more financial help from the state. Copies of the resolution will be sent to legislators. The bill would establish $9,000 as the unit cost for reimbursement instead of the present $5,800 which was called "unrealistic."

The board granted use of local school facilities for a school bus drivers' institute to be held next August 20.

Five directors made reservations for a dinner April 21 at Carlisle when a report will be made on the South Penn Study Council. Superintendent Riegle plans to attend.

Release Student, 16

A canvass of school boards showed that townships have voted not to take part in the summer driver training program this year. The Gettysburg borough board will pay for its pupils in the adult program but pupils from the townships will have to pay their own expenses.

The board adopted a recommendation from the superintendent and the board should spend as little as possible on them," Risler advised the board.

Gear Your Speed To Your Brakes

By MARTHA JOHNSON

Safety Consultant

Whether you are driving in city traffic, on country roads, or cruising along one of the safest super-highways, be careful to drive at a speed which allows you to control your car completely at all times.

"Many drivers put far too much reliance on their brakes to keep them out of trouble, no matter how fast they drive," Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol told me recently.

"Remember, the faster you drive, the slower you stop. So when you drive at speed—allow yourself plenty of room in which to maneuver and stop," Waggoner said.

Granting an average reaction time on the part of the driver, here is what you must expect—before you stop:

At 30 miles per hour, it'll take 78 feet to come to a complete stop. At 40 MPH it will take you 125 feet.

At 50 MPH it'll be 188 feet
At 60 MPH—272 feet
At 70 MPH—381 feet.

I know that I'm not the best judge of distances, and suspect that you may misjudge once in a while too. So, always give yourself more room than you think you need. That extra distance may mean safety.

The county court appointed Attorney Eugene R. Hartman as master in the divorce action brought by Elsie Romaine (Cramer) Lawler against Donald Eugene Lawler.

Court approval was given to an agreement by Fred Devine Smith, New Oxford, will pay $200 per month for the support of his two children. He was also directed to pay the costs and post a bond for $500 on his own recognizance.

Crouse, trading as I. H. Crouse and Sons, and Morton L. Kemper. However, no arguments were heard and it was reported that the motion to quash had been dropped. The suit concerns water damage to the Keystone Cabinet Co. plant which it alleges resulted as a consequence of construction by the defendants.

The activities fund balance was given at $13,918 and the athletic fund, $669.

There were letters of thanks read for use of school facilities from the Girl Scout Council, Heart Association, Gettysburg College and the Cancer Society. A PTA request for use of school facilities for an April 25 record hop and for the annual spring festival was granted.

Bills totaling $5,027 were ordered paid and the monthly school health report was received.

To Recommend Successor

He helped organize the secondary school summer workshops at Gettysburg College, helped organize the college career conference and college night at the high school. He introduced the integrated study program for Grade 7 in the local high school.

It will be up to the teacher and curriculum committee to recommend a successor.

Three of the six teachers elected Monday evening were for the high school, two for elementary and one will divide her time between elementary and high school. All salaries were fixed by the local schedule which takes into account experience and educational preparation.

Miss Ada Mummert, East Berlin, now teaching in the Juniata Joint School, at Mifflin, was elected to a physical education position at $3,900. She is in her first year of teaching after graduating from Slippery Rock State Teachers' College.

Others Elected

Mrs. Virginia Steiner, Gettysburg R. 2, now teaching at Biglerville High School with eight years of experience, was added to the high school staff for the fall. Her salary will be $4,600 and she will teach English.

Miss A. Joan Thomas, formerly of Gettysburg, now studying for her master's degree at the Oklahoma State University, was elected for an unspecified high school position at $4,000.

Mrs. Elmira Steiner, Dardorff, now teaching music at Littlestown, was elected as an additional music instructor to spend three days a week in the elementary schools and two days in the junior high. She will receive $4,200. It was explained that the present grade school vocal teacher has 46 classrooms to visit each week. "an almost impossible task," Superintendent H. Edgar Riegle told the board.

Elementary Teachers

The two chosen for elementary teaching jobs are Miss Nancy Ortel, Baltimore, Gettysburg College graduate last June who is now studying for her master's degree at Goucher College, who will receive $4,000, and James F. Slaybaugh, Roanoke College graduate now teaching in the schools of Conewago Twp., who will start here in the fall at $3,900.

All of the selections were made on recommendation of the teacher and curriculum committee and all elections were made unanimously on roll call votes.

On another recommendation from the teacher committee, the board approved full-time work for Mrs. Lucille Brennan, one of the school nurses. She has been working four days a week here and one day in Franklin Twp. Increased enrollment requires her full-time services here, the committee said.

Eisenhower Principal

To comply with provisions of the state school code, the board adopted a committee recommendation that the new title for Richard A. Folkenroth be "co-ordinator of elementary education."

Gets Divorce From "Different" Hubby

DENVER (AP)—When Robert Millard, 39, sawed off the legs of his wife's new dining room table, she says she at first tried to grin and bear it.

"We sat on pillows to eat our meals," Mrs. Millard, 30, told Dist. Judge Neil Horan. "We would lie on the floor to talk and we had to lean against the wall to read."

Said Mrs. Millard of her husband: "He just wanted to be different."

Her divorce was granted Monday.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Hoff-March Corp., owners of the Hotel Penn in York, has purchased the 125-room William Penn Hotel in downtown Harrisburg for an undisclosed sum.

The transfer was accomplished through Hoff-March's purchase of the Harrisburg hotel's capital stock. The new owners said no change in management is planned.
